Waterfield Campaign Hits Skids; Hoped-For 40,000-Vote Majority Drops To Zero, Admits KyR

All signs this week point to a mounting tide of public disgust with "Prince Albert" Chandler and his outfit in Frankfort, and even figures from the Goose-Hunter's cohorts tell how the tide of victory is mounting for the Combs-Wyatt ticket.

Four or five weeks ago, the administration-loving, Louisville-published "Kentucky Report" described a possible Combs-Wyatt victory as a "political miracle" if it were to happen, forecasting a Waterfield victory in excess of 40,000.

Last week "Kentucky Report" must have nosed around the State a little before making their current prediction: they gave Waterfield a statewide victory by only 14,000 votes.

In this week's KyR they dropped Waterfield by all 14,000 votes and described the coming vote as a neck-and-neck horse race with both candidates coming to the finish line in a dead heat, and you-know-who winning by a whisker.

Harry Lee, quite a bit more generous with his figures, has nevertheless conceded that he has lost 15,000 votes in the First District in these last few weeks. From his first estimate of a 35,000 First District majority (we SAID he was generous with his figures) he next predicted 25,000; last Friday night at Mayfield he shaved another 5000 off and predicted 20,000.

That, of course, is wishful thinking. Since the real estate deals of his have come to light, and since the free grocery deal has been dug up, considerable dismay has overtaken even the strongest supporters of "Prince Albert's" friends. Using the only rebuttal they know, they have resorted to mud-slinging, apologetic and defensive tirades, and other marks of the beaten.

With their theme song of "experienced candidate" shot full of holes with exposures of a 3½ year term of office crammed full of personal gain, their anticipation of a "bandwagon" movement stopped cold in its tracks by determined and unsurmountable opposition in every district, their cry of "help thy neighbor" offset by the qualified answer of Miss Doris Owens, another neighbor of ours who was battered unmercifully by her neighbor's organization just two years ago, even a break-even tally in the First District is more than "Prince Albert's" organization deserves—and the First District decides the ball game.

In hopes of salvaging a victory by attempting to start a Waterfield-Wyatt combination around the State, the Chandler organization has again exhibited its frustration. Since that hasn't struck any response, we saw last week an effort on the part of Chandler's Louisville organization (what there is of it) to seek to establish a Waterfield-Wells team, but the two other principal candidates in the Lieutenant-Governor's race flatly refused to drop out, and we understand that if Wells HAD been chosen, campaign manager Joe Leary, himself would have kissed them all goodbye.

The current Kentucky Report (above referred to) comes up with another interesting item: In St. Matthews (suburban Louisville) the Republican newspaper notes hard campaigning for a Waterfield-Wyatt combination, and that's easy to figure why: with Bert Combs as the Democratic nominee, the Republicans concede a lesser chance of winning, so they push the weaker candidate. Kentucky Report even reported the Waterfield-Wyatt movement with some apparent enjoyment. How stupid do they think some of their readers are?

We know Bert Combs and Wilson Wyatt as outstanding gentlemen, dedicated to the task of making Kentucky a great State, and to make its employee roster one filled with honest, hard-working, productive people. We expect neither of them to be greeted with "boos" when they address or appear at football or basketball games; we expect neither of them to seek personal profit from real estate or other transactions while in office; we fully expect to get their attention and sympathy for worthwhile projects for Fulton and Fulton County if they are elected and we know that we will.

During the present administration Fulton has fared badly: all that we can come up with is a $10,000 parking lot downtown and a lot of graveled streets recently in the suburbs.—Just these, despite the fact that they had the greatest highway-money jackpot in history.

Compare that to Fulton's progress under the Clements and Wetherby administrations: a $600,000 highway by-pass linking Riceville with US 45 North, a big by-pass project through Highlands, and a major street-widening and improvement of West State Line—just to name those in town.

We feel that Fulton, Fulton County and the whole State have much to look forward to when Bert Combs and Wilson Wyatt go into office, and your vote for them on May 26 will help get the job done.

TVA SELF-FINANCING BILL PASSES HOUSE

By a vote of 245 to 170 the four-year battle to get a TVA self-financing bill through the House ended in victory last week. It was a costly victory, however. The price that private utilities and other foes of TVA extracted in exchange was a territorial limitation.

The purpose of the limitation is to prevent TVA power from going to any locality which was not getting TVA power on July 1, 1937. Towns which had contracted for TVA power since then or which are now in court in an effort to get TVA power were exempted from the "freeze." This leaves the door open for Paducah and Princeton.

I introduced an amendment under which everyone in the First District would have been free to choose between TVA power and private utility power. The amendment was defeated on the Floor. In view of the way the lines were drawn, I was not very hopeful of succeeding, but I think the effort was worthwhile for two reasons: (1) It brought out for the record some of the inequities in the freeze provision and (2) It should help in the effort to improve this part of the bill in the Senate.

The authority to sell bonds which the bill provides will make it possible for TVA to build the facilities urgently needed to prevent a severe power shortage in the entire Tennessee Valley region.

FULTON GROUP ASSISTS IN TVA FIGHT

Mayor Nelson Tripp and Fulton Power Plant Board members Rodney Miller, Ward Johnson, and Paul Westpheling flew in a few hours before the bill reached the Floor of the House. I deeply appreciate their assistance. I believe their telling of the "Fulton story" will help get the limitation provision revised on the Senate side. As I pointed out on the Floor of the House, the Town of Fulton, Kentucky, will be prohibited from choosing TVA power while across the street the Town of South Fulton, Tennessee, will have the benefit of TVA rates.

TOBACCO BILL SCHEDULED

The bill to stabilize and protect the support price for tobacco is scheduled to come to a vote on the Floor of the House Monday, May 18. I believe the bill will be approved even though a two-thirds vote will be required.

The bill is being brought up with a two-thirds vote requirement since this is the only way to keep it from being amended. We are doing this because we fear opponents might try to "amend the tobacco program to death" if they get an opportunity.

VISITORS FROM HOME

In addition to our friends from Fulton, other recent visitors include Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Coffee, La Center, and Martha and Herman Broach, formerly of Murray and now of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. Also, Rupert "Hoot" Hornsby, George Helm, and R. B. "Duck" Goadler of Hickman, who were here in the interest of the Mississippi River Flood Control Association.

Local Women On TV Program Recently

Fulton County cooperated with the other homemakers clubs in the First District in the last TV program of the season on Wednesday of last week.

Each club had 2½ minutes over WPSD-TV and Fulton County chose the subject "You are what you eat." Those taking part were Mrs. T. R. Cagle, KU demonstrator, Mrs. Thomas Bruce and Mrs. Raymond Harrison.

Can Science Replace God?

By Thomas E. Murray, consultant to the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy

Science has made magnificent contributions to our way of living. The list of its achievements are endless; and its progress has just begun. Scientists have placed in the hands of men power which dwarfs even the imagination that fashioned the story of Aladdin's lamp.

SCIENCE can give man mastery over matter. It can fail to give man control over himself. Science has its distinctive method: it involves experiment—with tools, machines and chemicals. But you cannot, without a kind of sacrilege, experiment with the souls, lives and honor of men.

However useful science is to in-

Graduation Thoughts

By Charlie Huddleston

Graduation time is approaching. This is one of the most important days in the life of a high school student. On graduation night, the girls will be leaving tears. The boys, thinking that showing a similar emotion would be unmanly, will laugh off the feeling that they are leaving forever something that has suddenly become very dear to them. Except for a few minutes on Honors Day, graduation night will be the last time the kids will ever be together as a class.

Most of the seniors realize that in the coming summer and in the years to come, they will drift farther and farther from their old classmates. In twenty years, they will probably have trouble recognizing their old buddies, or remembering the names of people who were once close friends.

A vague sense of the finality of graduation will lay hold of the seniors. Although many of them have joyfully looked forward to the day when they can "finally get OUT of the old dump," somehow a lot of the happiness leaves when the last day arrives.

Ahead, they can see only strangeness—college, making friends among strangers, the armed services, marriage. Everything familiar will be gone. Maybe a senior has loafed and cheated his way through high school. The little methods and tricks of cheating suddenly don't seem smart and funny anymore.

But graduation isn't all sentiment and sorrow. A very wise man once compared graduation to a sudden bend in the river of life. "Beyond the bend lies strangeness, but also the opportunity to make new friends, a chance to make over some of the mistakes one may have made in high school, new challenges, and new opportunities. Graduation is the LAST of an old life, but it is also the start of a new, more independent, BETTER way of life. Graduation is not an end; it is a beginning."

New freight cars, like new automobiles, are constantly being bettered by improved design and skilled engineering ... all with one goal in mind—to give our customers exactly what they need.

Do these improvements matter to you? They do, indeed. For, even though you never ship a pound of freight, you are the ultimate customer for whom we work. Just remember that most of the things you buy travel by rail. So the better our service, the better for you.

That's why we want you to know that this year we are planning to add more than 1900 new freight cars to our fleet, including many cars to meet special shipping needs. For we are determined to make better the best of Illinois Central service—better for you and for all of our friends and neighbors of Mid-America.

Telephone Talk

by HAROLD WILEY
Your Telephone Manager

"MOSHI MOSHI!" These are the lilting words used to answer a telephone in Japan. Here in America most of us say "Hello." Numerous versions of that familiar greeting are found around the world. For instance, in Arabia it's "Alo" ... in Madrid it's "Hola" ... in Germany it's "Hallo." The Roman says "Pronto," which means "Ready." Latin Americans might say "Con quien?" meaning "With whom?" Some countries dispense with greetings altogether as in England where the direct Briton says "Smith here," and his caller replies with "Jones here." Though customs differ the world over, the importance and convenience of the telephone is universal.

MAGIC CARPETS reserved for Rajahs? Bet your life they're not! I have one, and so do you right within easy reach. It's your telephone! With it you can whisk away to New York, San Francisco, or Hongkong! Be there in minutes, too. And not only does it speed you to the side of faraway friends, but right here at home it transacts business ... spreads good news ... runs errands ... acts as your personal genie! I'm convinced that where "magic carpets" are concerned, Rajahs never had it this good!

(WHEN YOU WHISK AWAY by Long Distance, your magic carpet will get there faster when you call by number, and your trip will cost less when you call after six or on Sunday.)

WHERE ARE YOU when the phone rings? Might as well be on a desert island as stranded rooms away. Yet it's the simplest thing in the world to be rescued. Ever thought of a kitchen extension at your fingertips? Or a bedroom phone for leisurely chats? And, Dad, why feel like a castaway when you slip off to your workshop? It's so easy to have extensions to suit the whole family for only a few cents a day each. They come in colors as lovely as a bouquet of fresh spring flowers, too!

his campaign instead of seeking to destroy the character and reputation of a fellow publisher who believes in freedom of speech, religion, and the press. And who most of all believes that this is America where to vote one's convictions is a sacred trust.

If I were a person of less vision and understanding I would believe I had committed some criminal act after reading the uncalled for, unfair, unethical personal attacks that have been made upon me. Two weeks ago Erl Sensing devoted his entire column to criticize me, my motives, my family, my friends, my community activities, my personal looks, even my wearing apparel. It was such a disgraceful display of skid-row journalism that one of Harry Lee's closest friends called and apologized to me for the article. I appreciated their sincere interest but we both agreed that considering the source it was about par for the course.

Another newspaper, by inference accused me of neglecting my business and my community to work in a political campaign. That I resented, not as a personal act, but because it cast aspersions on some of the finest people in Fulton who are working diligently to maintain our public service and advertising programs at WFUL because they know the sincerity of my efforts. They know that the six months I have devoted to this campaign are not for the glory and edification of one Jo Westpheling, but because they know that if Bert Combs and Wilson Wyatt are elected I will continue to devote my every effort for progress for the area that we serve. You know those people at WFUL. They're fine and wonderful and it was only after we felt that my state-wide activities would not hinder the public service program of the station did I and they make the decision that I should accept the job.

Happily, and gratefully, business is good at WFUL.

I have one more week of traveling before the end of the campaign and then I'll be back home to work side by side with you for many years to come. I only ask that you believe in me enough to disregard these rumors, these accusations, these untruths that are being circulated. While many of you have disagreed with me many times, I hardly think there is one among you who would doubt my loyalty, my devotion and my intense desire to work with you to make our communities a better place in which to live. Mine and Paul's performances in the past, can at best, only reflect our sincere devotion to our community.

Ward Johnson gave a report of the Electric Plant Board members' trip to Washington, D. C. last week, concerning the TVA "freeze" and he stated that Senator Cooper believes that Fulton has a good case to be exempted from the freeze. The council OK'd a return trip to Washington for the group, when they are called to appear before the Senate. (The Electric Plant Board met Tuesday night to make plans for the return trip.)

Billy Hagan, a member of the Volunteer Fire Department, presented a petition signed by members of the Fire Department, asking the council to have at least 12 volunteer firemen (at the last meeting the council voted to cut the department from 12 to 10); to increase the pay of firemen to $5.00 each country fire, $5.00 for each fire when the 2 1/2 inch hose is used; and $3.50 for all other fires. The council turned the matter over to a committee for consideration.

The council adjourned subject

I was by Fulton Hospital one day recently and saw Katie Brown and another high school miss all dressed out in white nurse's aide uniforms. Katie was taking care of a baby. Was in a rush at the time so didn't stop for a chat, but I took for granted these young ladies were members of the nurse's aide group of high school girls, Jean McMaster has organized.

Recently, Jean mentioned her group of girls and promised to give us a story, but we both have been so busy, we haven't gotten together on it, as yet.

That Jean McMaster, a registered nurse at Fulton Hospital and art apprentice funeral director at the Hornbeak Funeral Home, is quite the gal! (Her husband is Frank McMaster, new co-owner of the funeral home.)

Jean is so talented and takes such an interest in things. She is not only a registered nurse and apprentice funeral director, she also sings and plays the piano well. She has been active in the organization of the new Business and Professional Women's Club here and is serving as corresponding secretary and chairman of the News Service committee.

The way I met her is quite funny. I take death notices from her husband on the phone all the time, but I had never met Jean. When we had that first B&PW meeting out at the Park Terrace, I told Frank that his wife was invited. She got to the meeting ahead of me, and not knowing who she was, when I introduced the Fulton women to the Mayfield group, I failed to inroduce her, thinking she was them.

After some time, Jean, who was sitting next to me, said, "You forgot to introduce me." I was puzzled. I didn't know who she was and was embarrassed.

Finally, she laughed and introduced herself.

Jean is an attractive young lady, with a wonderful personality, and we all like her just fine!

Have you driven by the Ferry-Morse Seed Co. plant and noticed the big new water tank? It's a bright orange with sort of a round ball at the top. Says Harry Barry, "It looks like its about to bloom."

Mr. Barry, local sanitarian, was in the office last Thursday and said that the annual mosquito spraying had gotten underway here. He said he thought the City of Fulton was planning to buy a new fog machine to be used in this project.

You know, I used to think that I knew everyone in town. I certainly can't say that now! I've never seen so many new faces around.

To our newcomers to town, we would like to extend to you a cordial invitation to drop by the News office on Commercial Avenue and Radio Station WFUL on the Middle Road out west of town, at any time. Stop by, tell us who you are, and we might do a little writeup on you for the paper, or maybe you can be interviewed on the radio. That should be fun.

Things have really been buzzing lately. Never saw so many places to go and so many meetings to attend! As Mr. Barry says, "That's the way it goes when your town begins to grow." Don't get us wrong. We're not complaining—just commenting.

Fulton really made the pages of the latest issue of the Illinois Central Magazine. There was a story, accompanied by a picture, of the Clothes Bank drive in Fulton. There was also a page feature with pictures of Hardy Chestnut, retired Carman, written by Mary Alice Coleman. Accompanying Mary Alice's regular column was a picture showing Engineer G. D. Robertson, receiving a bag as a retirement gift from fellow workers. Shown with him are General Foreman M. M. Matlock and Electrician L. L. Carter.

W. W. Coulter, painter, car department, recently was re-elected as president of the Illinois Central Employees Service Club at Fulton, for the seventh consecutive year.

Fishing, bathing and picnicking—Stevens Lake, which is located eight miles north of Fulton just off Highway 307, held its grand-opening Sunday.

The 30-acre lake, which is supported by springs, was opened by Mrs. Melvin Stephens.

The lake has all the facilities for fishing, swimming and picnicking.

The five-year-old lake has a one-acre graveled beach which will open on Sunday. Qualified lifeguards will be on duty at the beach.

Boats can be rented or you can bring your own boat for fishing or just idle cruising about the scenic lake.

Picnic tables and sheds are also on the lake site.

Other picnic and fishing supplies are also available at the lake.

SEE YOUR QUALITY BUICK DEALER...AND Get inside the clean winged beauty of Buick '59

Watch Dale Robertson in Tales of Wells Fargo on NBC-TV Monday Nights

Along with the most talked about style on the road today goes performance now even to owners of previous Buicks... and too great for you to miss.

Buick '59 is livelier yet smoother, more powerful yet thrifter, as any previous Buick owner will tell you. And credit goes to the turbine smoothness of Buick transmissions, plus the new responsiveness of Buick "Wildcat" engines.

At the wheel, too, you'll find new handling ease and finned-brake sureness that owners put high on their "most liked" list.

But that's far from all these owners tell us. They talk about new operating economy from the most efficient power plant on the road today. About quality of finish and detail, and of quietness that even beats the best of Buick heretofore. They speak of reliability... and they speak of the pure pleasure of owning a Buick '59... in ways that warm the heart.

DISCOVER FOR YOURSELF WHY 190,000 FAMILIES HAVE ALREADY MADE THE MAGNIFICENT CHANGE TO BUICK '59

But the best spokesman for Buick '59—and what it can do for you—is a Buick itself. Why not go to your Buick dealer and get the inside story, today?

TO OWNERS OF CARS IN "THE LEADING LOW-PRICED 5" ... You'll be surprised how easily you can own a Buick LeSabre instead! Be sure to ask your Buick Dealer about "THE MOST IMPORTANT $200 IN THE AUTOMOBILE WORLD!"

Class Of 59 Has Wide Variety Of Plans For Future

The Senior Class of Fulton High School can number its remaining schooldays on a very few fingers and toes, a fact which causes quiet a mixture of emotions in its collective heart.

As the end of their final year draws ever nearer, the members of the class must consider their future plans and hopes. Of course a majority of the seniors will continue to attend school in many different places, while others will go to work.

This year's seniors will scatter over a wide area. Some will go to state-supported schools, some to private institutions, to small schools and large, to schools near and far. The academic pursuits will range from vocational training to engineering, from art to zoology, from home economics to nuclear physics.

The seniors planning to attend Murfay State College are: Bobby Hyland; Johnny Allen, Engineering; Glenn Cook, Architecture; Joan Carter, Music; Kenneth Turner; Cynthia Campbell, Education; Janice Page; Jerry Carter; Carolyn Mann, Business; Brady Williamson, Business; Elaine Butler, Home Ec.; Richard Britton; Brenda Brown, Home Ec.; and Glynn Bradley, Eng.

Joe Johnson and Charlie Hud-leston are planning to go to the University of Tennessee to study chemistry; Ruth Butts is going to U. T. to major in mathematics.

Seniors going to U. T. M. B. are: Freddy Harper, Eng.; Robert Stephenson; Jimmy Newton; Jimmy Wade; Donald Ray; and Joanne Covington, Education.

Bobby Powell and Ward Burnett are going to U. K. to study dairying; Susan Bushart is going to U. K. to study medical dietetics.

Others of the group and their prospective schools are: Philip Jeffress, Union University, Ministerial Training; Donnie McKnight, U. of Mississippi; Roger Pigue, U. of Colorado; Anna Frances Jackson, Business, Paducah; Patsy Kerney and Barbara Pearson, Ky.

The Fulton News, Thursday, May 14, 1959, Page 3

State College; Richard Cardwell and Johnny Jones, Ol' Miss.; Sidney Callihan, Texas Women's University; and Mary Ann Bennett, Mississippi State College for Women.

Kenneth Mulcahy, Tommy Morrow, and Jerry Fortner plan to join the armed service; Tommy Exum is going to study electronics; and Charles Sisson has made no definite plans.

Although most schools must consider themselves lucky when 80 per cent of their graduates start college, as you can see, a very much greater percentage of the 1959 class of Fulton High School are planning to pursue advanced education.

Wherever they go they will

Who? Me? I'm A Research Theme

By Ruth Butts

I am a senior research theme. I was born in a library and my father and mother were a bunch of note cards. My grandparents were four great big reference books. I didn't even dare to cry in the customary manner at the crucial moment because I heard someone whisper, "Sh-h-h-h, silence in the library."

There was a good deal of discussion over what to name me. Some thought "Abraham Lincoln" would be a good title to hang on me, while others thought "Elvis Presley" would be better. "Mammoth Cave" and "Fashions Through the Ages" were suggested. Personally I would have preferred just plain "Chemistry" with "Chem" for short. However, that was vetoed, and I wasn't consulted. They finally settled on "Bumblebees and What Makes Them Bumble."

My growing up has been hectic. At various times I have been added to and taken from, blown up and pruned down. I was typed in the middle of the night amid much muttering and drinking of black coffee. Somehow I had gotten behind schedule; the deadline for my presentation to society being imminent. Right in the midst of it all, I had to have a major operation, a terrible mistake having been discovered in my middle section. So in the wee small hours I was taken apart, the offending member removed, and the healthy portions sewed back together again.

At long last here I repose on the teacher's desk ready and waiting for the grand inspection. Just below me in the stack is "Lily Pons", who is slowly driving me insane with her vocalizing. Immediately above is "The Great Pyramid," whose weight is mashing me flatter and flatter. Confidentially speaking, I think I'm much better than either one of them. If they don't stop their annoyances, I may show them I'm a real pedigreed bumblebee by using my stinger.

Well, here comes the teacher at last. This is my debut. Wish me luck!

Early Recollections Of Fulton Are Interesting

By Ouida Jewell

In going through old newspapers, deeds and other material, gathering information for our Centennial edition of The News, we ran across an interesting group of facts about Fulton back in its infant years.

Early in the fifties when the United States mails were carried on horseback from old Feliciana, in Graves County, Ky., to Jack-sonville, Tenn., (near Harris), a postoffice was established on the State Line road in a little cabin built by B. F. Carr, one of the first settlers in Fulton. The cabin stood on a mound and was at that time in front of Frank Carr's house. This postoffice was called Postotoc, and Dr. V. A. Hawkins, a pioneer medical practitioner, was the first postmaster of Ful-ton.

About that time there were but three families living in Fulton (or what is now the site of the town). They consisted of B. F. Carr, F. G. Bard and Noah Norman. The first named gentleman had settled in what is now West Fulton. The first store of any kind was owned and conducted by Messrs. B. F. Carr and Fernando Roots in the depot building, and em-braced dry goods, notions, gro-ceries, etc. Later the firm changed to Carr & Eddings.

About May 30, 1865, Dr. S. G. Patterson moved to the new settlement and opened a physi-cian's office in a small house on State Line road that was former-ly used as a saloon. A few years later the doctor built and opened a dry goods store and also built a residence. At that time there were three stores in Fulton—Dr. Patterson's, Carr & Eddings, and a small store owned by Terry & McCall.

Later J. A. Collins bought from B. F. Carr a lot 50x100 feet for the purpose of erecting a store house. The building was later occupied by the Wm. Cohn store. Mr. Collins paid Mr. Carr $100 for the lot. That was in 1867.

The first residence built after the survey was by Dr. G. W. Paschall, and the second by F. M. Thomas. The first brick house was built by W. T. Carr (the Carr block) on Lake Street. The first lot sold was to William Wooldridge for a store house, A. D. Collins being given as reference.

Dr. T. C. Parker was the first police judge, and Flen Sellers the first marshal.

Mrs. A. D. Collins and Jas. Har-vey Gardner taught school in the first Seminary—then a fine frame house on the lot just east of Fisher & Read's drug store (no longer in existence). The public school house was a small struc-ture situated on Gospel Hill, and taught by James Casly.

Pink Stillely was the first man killed in the new town, having been murdered by a railroad man named Belts.

Mrs. Wes Childers was the first hotel keeper, and ran the Childers house.

G. W. Thomas erected the first brick hotel at the railway cross-ing, having paid $225 for the lot one hundred feet square. Latterly it was the Fleming Hotel, when it gave way in 1897 to the fine building known as Knight's Hotel. Uncle Charley Knight opened the first restaurant at the cross-ings, while Henry Knight bore off brick at Allen's brick yard at 50 cents a day.

A. D. Collins was the first dry goods clerk, Dr. Gid Paschall, the first physician, Stacker Taylor (later of Paris, Tenn.) was the first to write insurance in the new town; Judge R. S. Murrell, the first lawyer; R. A. Browder, Dr. Paschall and R. S. Murrell had the first butcher shop, which was on the Paschall hill.

D. L. Norman was the oldest man raised in the territory of Fulton; Leroy Collins the first blacksmith.

The first newspaper in the town of Fulton was the Times, long since dead.

The first bank was the Fulton Bank, (not the existing one) with A. T. Mitchell as first cashier.

The first drug store was put up by Drs. G. W. and N. J. Pas-chall, with R. M. Bullock first drug clerk.

James Roberts was the first manufacturer of buggies, T. T. Twigg the first livery stable man, Wm. Hall the first tinner, N. C. Webb established the first found-ry, A. P. Creedie first grain dealer, Dr. S. G. Patterson the first resident minister.

Kennedy, Whiteside and Pas-chall started the first grist mill in 1868. Before that time the people had to send to Paducah for flour and meal.

R. W. Barcliff was the first photographer. One of the first and most extensive stock and poultry dealers was J. C. Williams.

The first white child, born soon after the railroad survey, was Mrs. Fred Green.

The first ordinances for the city of Fulton were framed and adopt-ed May 20, 1874, by the board of trustees, consisting of the follow-ing councilmen: T. C. Parker, Chairman; G. W. Paschall, R. M. Bullock, J. A. Wyatt and A. D. Collins.

The council in 1899 was com-posed of the following gentlemen: W. H. Powers, W. W. Meadows,

F. S. Knouse, C. E. Weldon, G. H. Bransford and E. M. Taylor

Judge Ed C. Starks was the first Mayor and served for nearly twenty years with the intermis-sion of one term, when B. H. Free-man occupied the position. Sam Bedford defeated Starks in 1893, only a short time before the lat-ter's death. J. W. Chambers and W. P. Felts held the office for a number of years. J. F. Fall was the incumbent in 1899.

The first police judge under the new order of things was C. E. Rice, followed by Bruce Ed-dings, Mott Ayres, W. P. Nolen and J. W. Sellars, in 1899.

The first city marshal was T. H. Boaz, then Albert Huddleston, Green Neely, John Pullen, Frank Brizendine, Fate Rascoe and Al-bert Huddleston, officer in 1899.

John Tyler was city clerk in 1899, John Huddleston, water superintendent, Billy Harpole, street commissioner.

Fulton Clubs Are Hostesses At Meeting

Homemakers from the Purchase region held their district meeting recently at the Murray College Auditorium. Fulton County Home-makers clubs were hostesses for the event.

Mrs. Carl Evans, Ballard Coun-ty, presided at the meeting and Mrs. Herschel Jennings, of Car-lisle County, acted as secretary.

The greeting was given by Dr. Ralph Woods, president of Mur-ray State College and the devo-tional was led by Mrs. Ray Sam-uels of Hickman County. The fol-lowing federation reports were also given: Membership, Mrs. Penice Fisk, Calloway County; Reading, Mrs. Robert Moseley, Graves County; Citizenship, Mrs. M. L. Robinson, Livingston County; Publicity, Mrs. G. O. Cavanah, Livingston County; Music, Mrs. J. R. Powell, Ful-ton County.

Dr. Doris Seward, dean of women at the University of Ken-tucky, was the principal speaker for the group and talked on "Edu-cating the Girl Today for Woman-hood of Tomorrow."

Music for the event was pre-sented by the Fulton County Chorus, directed by Mrs. J. R. Powell, and the McCracken County Chorus, directed by Mrs. J. K. Luton.

Approximately 84 women from Graves County attended the meet-ing. Graves County clubs repre-sented were Tri-City, Burnett's Chapel, Farmington, Wingo, May-field, Mayfield, Matinee, Potts-ville, Sunnyside, Lynnaville, Lowes, Pilot Oak, and Eastland.

HOMEROOM BEAT

By Hal Warren

Peter Gunn, famous detective, was hired last week by Mr. Mar-tin to find out who had been steal-ing Robert E. Lee's head. Disguis-ed as a pencil trimmer, he got in on some real dope, but was unable to find the guilty party.

As he entered the freshman homeroom, David Golden was loading his brief-case in read-iness for the long walk to classes. Peter dug up the fact that he carries his lunch in it and eats between recitations.

Going in among sophomores, Thomas Carney and Bobby Han-cock were reading space maga-zines. Jimmy Cheatem was sharp-ening his cleats, Elaine Beggs was shining her campaign button.

As Pete entered the junior homeroom he saw a good looking girl who was trying to get an answer for some unsolved prob-lem from some brain who had the answer.

Gunn went back to work. He saw Roy Morrow getting his fingers limbered up for his usual 65 word a minute in typing (with no mistakes). Gary Williamson was combing his hair; Judy Bur-ton was getting limbered up for the long run to the cafeteria.

In the senior home room, Peter, who was now dressed as a fellow student, saw Jimmy Wade tuck-ing in his shirt tail after Charles Sisson had told him it was on fire (and put it out). Bobby Hy-land was about to start a fight and Donnie McKnight was think-ing up poetry.

Pete asked all of these notorious gangsters if they knew anything of the missing cranium, but all pleaded the Fifth Amendment.

The preceeding was a lie, only the names remain the same to smear the innocent.

missed as he and his wife have gone back together.

Monday afternoon Eugene Bransfield, colored, of South Ful-ton pleaded guilty to store-house breaking (breaking into the Sports Center here and stealing some guns), and was sentenced to one year and one day in the state pen.

The Grand Jury returned two indictments Monday. One was against Katherine Woodruff of

Farm News, Meetings, Events

(Ed's note: the following information, supplied THE NEWS by the USDA, ASC, nearby County Agents and agricultural agencies will be of special interest to progressive farmers in the Ken-Tenn area):

NEW RULE ON WHEAT HISTORY

A farmer who has wheat planted in excess of his 1959 acreage allotment may dispose of the extra acres up until June 1st, and it probably will increase his wheat allotment in the future if he does so, according to a reminder from Roy Bard, Chairman of the (Fulton County) Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

A major factor in determining farm wheat allotments is the history of wheat grown previously on the farm. The farmer who complies with his allotment gets "history" credit not only for the "diverted" acres, which is the acreage held out of wheat under the allotment program. On the other hand, under a new law effective this year, the farmer who produces excess wheat will usually receive history credit only for the allotment. In the past, the overproducer received his total wheat acreage as history.

The farmer who produces excess wheat in 1959 may deliver the excess to the Secretary of Agriculture or store it — on the farm under bond or in a commercial warehouse. In that way he avoids marketing quota penalties. He also gets history credit for his allotment plus diverted acres just as though he had complied with his allotment. However, the credit for diverted acres is lost in case the stored wheat is sold or used and the producer becomes liable for marketing quota penalties.

"DISPLACED" WHEAT FARM OWNERS REMINDED OF DEADLINE

May 1 of this year is an important deadline for certain owners of wheat farms which have been acquired by an agency having the right of eminent domain, according to Roy Bard, Chairman, (Fulton County) Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The May 1 deadline applies to those owners who were so displaced from wheat — allotment farms during the period January 1, 1954 to August 28, 1958.

The Chairman explains that such an owner may file a notice of his displacement and a request that the allotment be pooled and used to the extent necessary to establish an "equitable" allotment for other land owned or purchased by him.

REMINDERS FOR TOBACCO GROWERS

Farmers in Fulton county who are considering leaving strips of idle or fallow land in an alternate row arrangement with tobacco rows were reminded by Roy Bard, Chairman of the County ASC Committee, that the strips of idle or fallow land must be as wide as, or wider, than four normal rows of tobacco to be deducted from the tobacco acreage.

A "normal row" is described by Mr. Bard, as being at least 36 inches wide or the actual distance between the rows of tobacco on the farm whichever is wider. Mr. Bard said that anyone planning to leave idle or fallow strips of ground in the tobacco field should contact the County ASC office before setting tobacco.

FARMERS REMINDED

Farmers who have contracted to participate in the 1959 Soil Bank conservation reserve should remember that they must comply with all acreage allotments for the farm as well as all soil bank requirements in order to qualify for payment. C. C. Vaughn, Chairman of the Fulton County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today.

A program provision that is sometimes overlooked by farmers required compliance with all acreage allotments established for the farm. If this requirement is not met the farmer will be ineligible for payment and he will leave himself liable for further penalties.

Mr. Vaughn further pointed out that farmers should be extremely careful that they do not exceed their permitted acreage of soil bank base crops. Exceeding this permitted acreage can also make a farmer ineligible for the payment which he would otherwise earn.

Where a farmer willfully and knowingly harvests from or permits grazing on conservation reserve land, payment is forfeited and in addition he is subject to a civil penalty of 50 percent of the payment which would have been made for compliance.

The area where Danville now stands was originally visited by pioneers in 1774, with some settlement by 1776. In March, 1785, Danville became the first capital of the Kentucky District of the Commonwealth of Virginia. At Danville, where Kentucky's first political club was formed, were held the first nine constitutional conventions which made Kentucky a commonwealth in 1792, with this city as the first state capital.

HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

BIERKÄSE AND CRACKERS

Yes, it's Austrian "beer cheese." An uncommon blend of common cheeses gives you this delightful party snack or appetizer. Bierkase is a tangy mixture of cheddar and rouquefort cheeses, spices and beer—perfect with crackers or pumpernickel. Of course, the old chefs who created this and many other Old-World dishes like Leber Klose and Bierkarpfen knew that the light, bright taste of good beer would accompany their dishes to the table. To enjoy each to the utmost, be sure to include its natural partner—a sparkling glass of your favorite brand of beer.

Fertilizer Index Is Revised; Plant Foods Investigated

By G. A. Lively
Agricultural Agent
Illinois Central Railroad Co.

The plant foods contained in crops have been investigated by agricultural chemists for many years. With these findings available as to the amount and kind of plant food necessary to produce given yields of crops, it is not too difficult for farmers and soil specialists to make recommendations particularly in the soil testing laboratories. These charts are used by the Illinois Central soil testing laboratory in making fertilizer recommendations to produce maximum yields. Due to acreage cuts recently, it has been necessary for farmers to produce increased yields on the remaining acres in order to stay in business. Plant breeders have given us new varieties of crops capable of producing high yields when properly fertilized. These higher yields, however, drain the available plant food and unless these demands are met, the soil will become depleted. This is now being experienced in areas where it was once thought the soil to be inexhaustible, especially in the Delta, the Prairie and Cornbelt States.

A study to determine (1) the amount of plant food it takes to make a crop; (2) the amount taken by the crop when sold from the farm; and (3) the amount left in the stalks, leaves, straw, vines and tops, discloses valuable information on what amount should be returned to repeat the performance. Our sights are now set at 1½ bales of cotton per acre; bushels of soybeans per acre; 100 bushels of corn per acre; 40 which is a change of about 25 per cent in higher yields. Cotton and corn are two crops which will give good examples of the plant food removed and that which remains in the plant to be returned to the soil.

In the case of cotton and corn, much of the plant food is left in the stalks after the grain is harvested. For example, corn removes from the soil in grain, 110 pounds of plant food to the acre, but there is 105 pounds of plant food left in the stalks which is returned to the soil. A considerable amount of the element potassium is also found in the stalks of cotton and corn. In earlier years, before machinery was used on the farm, most of the stalks of both crops were removed from the fields and likewise valuable nutrients were not put back in the soil.

It is interesting to note, in the case of cotton, 45 of the 65 pounds of potash necessary to produce 1½ bales of cotton, is left in the stalks. With corn, 85 of the 120 pounds of potash necessary to produce 100 bushels of corn, is left in the stalks, and is returned to the soil.

The American Potash Institute is distributing a new booklet entitled "Consider Plant Food Content of Your Crops" which is available at the Illinois Central Railroad soil testing laboratory at Jackson, Mississippi. Fertilizer recommendations made at the laboratory for higher crop yields, is based on information supplied in this pamphlet.

TID BITS

of Kentucky Folklore
by The Philosopher

"SOME SIGNS OF THE TIMES"

This is the eleven-hundredth article in this column, and the column itself is near its twenty-first birthday. These rather dry facts have given me several thoughts about folklore and especially the attitude toward folk things at present as compared with sentiment twenty-one years ago.

As I have said several times in previous articles, I was looked at rather queerly when I first began these weekly discussions of ways we do things and leftovers in our lives of customs of distant origin. Some of my friends even wondered why I would parade my knowledge of such primitive things and even rejoice that I had experienced them. One said that if he had had such a primitive background, he would be ashamed to mention it. I told him I was not sacrificing truth to attract attention and would continue to tell the truth as I saw it. I am not sure whether he has even been convinced of any value in folklore; I have not worried especially, for his opinion might not be too important, anyway.

On the other hand, from the very first article, back in 1935, many people of all ages and degrees of education have written me or called me or sought me out to thank me for telling the plain truth, not dressed-up truth, about quaint customs and people. I have tried to profit from these comments and stick, very religiously, to facts; dressing up facts is as contemptible as dressing them down, if those are good expressions. Our folk backgrounds were not things to use as platforms on which we might seek office or attention.

Suppose I did attend a one-room country school that was very primitive; so what? Where else could I have gone? Suppose that I do remember black gum and hickory-bark toothbrushes; what other kinds were available then at Fidelity or elsewhere? Suppose I did grow up on wild greens and sassafras tea; can you think of finer food to grow up on? Fortunately, most of my correspondents have had the same experiences and are proud of them; they have egged me on by suggesting new articles on things that I had omitted or forgotten. Many of my pen friends have regularly sent me lists of items that they wished I would incorporate into articles: I have obliged them as fast as I could find time to write. In many ways, I must confess, whatever success this column may have is due in no small part to my sympathetic readers.

In the years since this column began much use has been made of folk material, sometimes wisely, sometimes not. A much wider appreciation of folk customs is now evident, as we have changed some of our emphases in folk study. Many great scholars and many local interpreters of folk life have done much to make us know what values there are in our folk ways. But some people, even though they have known folklore at first hand, have distorted it to attract attention and dollars. If mere outsiders misinterpret our folk ways, that is at least excusable; but some of the worst distortions have been committed by insiders, who knew better but did not tell the truth about us and our ways. I sincerely hope that this attitude of dressing up our customs to make us appear as degenerates and primitive remnants of better times will die of its own weight since more genuine appraisers of folklore are appearing. Maybe it will not be a reproach to be called a Kentuckian, for people will know that we are, like Pop Eye, what we are and not some half-comic caricature of what some Easterner wants us to be. There is enough quaintness and fascination in our genuine ways to attract any one who honestly wants to know what folklore is really like; as in science, it is not necessary to be nature-fakers.

Hardy Cheatham Finds Fun In His Retirement From I. C.

by Mary Alice Coleman

Are you the type of person who dreams of the freedom that comes with retirement? Do you conjure up pictures of yourself enjoying extra hours of sleep or hunting and fishing as the mood takes hold? Perhaps you're the more energetic type who will itch to get something that will keep you young and active. Maybe you think you can handle a combination of both. If you do, don't despair, for retired Carman Hardy I. Cheatham is a living example of a man who seems, successfully, to have found the combination.

This was brought out in a recent article about Mr. and Mrs. Cheatham that appeared in the "West Kentucky Rural Co-Op News." Mr. Cheatham, who is from Fulton, Ky., retired on February 24, 1958. After reading the

GR-R-ROWL Staff Named; Carter, Burnette Editors

The staff for the 1959-60 GR-R-ROWL has been selected and has already begun planning its work for next year. The new staff members are as follows:

article about him I had an opportunity to call on him and have a talk. I asked him if he is happy and if he regretted having retired. He stated, "I'm really enjoying life. I go to bed when I please, get up when it pleases me, go fishing and hunting any time I desire and never have any certain time to return. It's wonderful!"

Mr. and Mrs. Cheatham, who moved to their farm near Milburn when he retired after 40 years of service with the Illinois Central, are enjoying good health and are so filled with the joy of living that it is a real pleasure to talk with them. Mrs. Cheatham is a native of Carlisle County, Ky. A few years ago the couple bought a 244-acre farm in that county with the intention of moving there when Mr. Cheatham retired. The land on this farm lends itself to livestock production and there is a large herd of beef cattle grazing on the slope below the house. Another livestock enterprise on the farm is hog raising. Mr. Cheatham is in the process of building a completely modern "pig parlor" to make this a more profitable program. The building will have a concrete floor, divided through the center with a feed trough so that hogs of different sizes can be separated and fed. On each side of the trough will be an electrically operated waterer designed to keep the proper level of water at all times, heated to the proper temperature. During the summer a pump in the nearby well will supply the water necessary to keep a mist of cool water falling over the hogs at all times.

Mr. Cheatham says this system will pay off handsomely in added profits on production.

In the rear of this building, six farrowing pens are equipped with heat lamps for the protection of new-born pigs. During this past winter, using these pens, 18 sows farrowed 152 pigs and only one pig was lost. Mr. Cheatham says he would not be in the hog-raising business if he did not have this electrical equipment.

Several small lakes on the farm are stocked with fish. The timber land offers cover for quail. All this helps to fill the freezer, supplemented by frozen pheasants brought back from a recent hunting trip to South Dakota. In addition, a small flock of chickens and a few turkeys also help to keep the freezer filled.

If I seem to have exaggerated the Cheathams' enthusiasm for their way of life, stop in to see them sometime. They will make you welcome and will tell you all about it themselves.
